

Weinstock & Scavo Sponsors Ragatz Associates Fractional Interest Conference

Weinstock & Scavo, P.C., is a proud Gold Sponsor of the 2009 Ragatz Associates Fractional Interest Conference in San Francisco, CA. The conference is the premier fractional interest conference in the United States, focusing on the resort, time share and regulated real estate market.

W&S managing partner Jim Scavo will again provide first hand introductory and foundational information at the Fractional 101 opening session. Jim is nationally recognized for his assistance to clients in legal matters regarding resorts, clubs, planned communities, country clubs, private residence clubs, fractional and timeshare resorts, destination clubs, condominiums, townhome developments and commercial real estate transactions. In providing this assistance, Jim works with developers, marketers, lenders, managers, consultants, brokers, regulators and property owner associations.

W&S partner Mark Sanders will present information on the legal aspects of single family home fractional programs, an practice area for which he is well known. Mark's practice at W&S focuses on real estate, resort and land development, general corporate and commercial practice, including acquisition, financing and business transactions, secured transactions, securitization, trade practice law, marketing law and litigation related to these practice areas.

Anthony Polvino, another partner at W&S, known nationally for his counsel on sales and marketing issues as related to the fractional/regulated real estate industry, will also be present at the conference. Anthony has extensive experience in the creation, structuring, marketing and sale of all forms of vacation programs including timeshare, fractional, travel membership clubs and destination clubs.

About Weinstock & Scavo, P.C.

For over twenty-five years, our full-service law firm has represented clients, both individuals and businesses, small and large alike, on a local, national and global level. Consisting of attorneys located in our Atlanta and Savannah, Georgia offices, our firm provides dynamic and decisive legal assistance aimed at achieving your legal objectives.

Our firm is a full-service practice offering both a litigation and transactional practice, each addressing a wide variety of substantive areas. Indeed, the firm's name itself reflects the availability of our legal services, as Michael Weinstock heads our litigation team, and James J. Scavo, our transactional team. Each team represents clients in any or all phases of a client's transactional or litigation issues. No matter how small or large, simple or complex the matter, we tirelessly, zealously and strategically advocate and work for our clients.
